Best of Materials Going Into New Magic Chef Market

"Nothing but the best," is the key phrase for the new Magic Chef Market soon to open in the Del Amo shopping center, Hawthorne and Sepulveda. Materials used throughout are of an excellence often seen in the finest private homes, but seldom in public buildings—especially in supermarkets.

In the liquor department, the market planners have chosen a Florentine-glass tile in varied deep reds—and complemented it with a gold damask wall covering.

The again comes into the dairy department. Here, in keeping with the products it surrounds, the colors are stripes of soft pink and blue, spiked with an occasional narrow stripe of red.

In the restaurant, the atmosphere is rich and serene, with cypress woodwork, polished-brass fittings, and plastic upholstery in blue. A pierced plastic grill-work, so new it has never before been used for screening in public or private buildings, will shield diners from the bustling market, so that they can enjoy food in relaxation.

"Everything that went into Magic Chef," said the market's planners, "had to pass two tests: for beauty and for utility. It costs a lot, sure—but we think quality pays for itself. The customers are the ones who will prove it."

College Physics Building Gets Under Way

Site clearance and preliminary excavation work began this week for the new $38,000 physics building at Harbor College campus.

The building, made possible by approval of school bonds in the last election, will be ready for use by September, 1961.

The structure will be built west of the science wing of the present administration building and will contain four physics laboratories offices, storage space, and a large lecture hall which will seat more than 100 students.

The building will house $150,000 worth of the most modern equipment and will double present science facilities at the college.

Carter-Mack Builders, Inc., of Harbor City are in charge of construction. The building was designed by architects A. C. Zimmerman and F. D. Howell.

Notwithstanding great expected increases in enrollment, no further expansion of the college will be possible until a new bond issue is passed.
